WASHINGTON NEWS.

Guiteau Gives a Circular for Publication.

Report of the Commissioner of Indian Affairs.

Surmises as to the Speakership of the House.

News from the Arctic--Cabinet Rumors.

CABINET RUMORS.

WASHINGTON, November 16.—The report is current to-day that Secretary Lincoln will shortly retire voluntarily from the cabinet; that Emery Storrs will be the new attorney general, and ex-Senator Chaffee, of Colorado, will succeed Kirkwood as secretary of the interior. Chauncey I. Filley is mentioned as postmaster general, General Longstreet as secretary of the navy, and General Beale as secretary of war.

POST-OFFICE MATTERS.

Assistant Postmaster-General Hatton to-day said that publishers of matter admitted to the mails as second-class may print upon the side of a postal card intended for communication bills, receipts, and orders for subscriptions to their publication or publications, and may also print the address of such publisher upon the address side of the card and enclose the same in the second-class matter.

THE COMING SPEAKERSHIP CONTEST.

WASHINGTON, November 16.—Ohio members believe that Keifer has more strength than any other western candidate for the speakership and will eventually become the speaker. Hiscock, who wrote letters to members of the house last Spring urging that as Ohio had the president and so many other positions the speakership should not go to that state, finds his own argument turned against his candidacy as the president two members of the cabinet, the French and other missions are with New York. Kasson is a strong candidate and well qualified. Robeson, of New Jersey, is not canvassing openly but is not an improbable candidate. Orth has Indiana solid and will make a strong fight.

THIRD DAY OF GUITEAU'S CASE.

WASHINGTON, November 16.—The back entrance to the criminal court room opened about 9.30 this morning. Almost immediately about fifty ladies were ushered in by the deputy marshal and given seats in chairs immediately in the rear of the counsel. A few minutes before 10 o'clock those who had been accepted as jurors entered the room and took seats. Before 10 the court was filled to overflowing, the audience being respectable. The court was called to order. During the calling of the names of the jurors the prisoner was brought in. His appearance was wild and excited. He tossed his hat upon the desk before him, and turning toward his brother-in-law, Scoville, whispered something to him in an excited manner. The two entered into conversation, and Guiteau, while speaking, used his clenched fist vigorously as if insisting on a matter which Scoville seemed to disapprove of. The talesmen were called. During the examination of the talesmen the following statement was prepared by Guiteau, copied by his brother and given to the press:

GUITEAU'S CALL FOR AID.

To the legal profession of America:

"I am on trial for my life. I formerly practiced law in New York and Chicago and I propose to take an active part in my defense as I know more about my inspiration and views in the case than anyone. My brother-in-law, George Scoville, esq., is my only counsel, and I hereby appeal to the legal profession for aid. I expect to have money shortly so I can pay them. I shall get it partly from the settlement of an old matter in New York and partly from the sale of my books and partly from contributions to my defense. My defense was published in the New York Herald in the October sixth issue and in my speech published November 15th (yesterday.) Any well known lawyer of criminal capacity desiring to assist in my defense will please telegraph without delay to George Scoville, Washington. If for any reason an application be refused the name will be withheld from the public.

[Signed,] CHAS. GUITEAU,
In court, Washington, D. C.
November 16, 1881.

SELECTING THE JURORS.

There were thirty-two talesmen examined between the tenth and eleventh jurors. There have been ten peremptory challenges on the part of the defense. Joseph Poulin, commission merchant, was accepted as the twelfth juror.

The court took a recess for half an hour, and upon reassembling District Attorney Corkhill asked the court that the oath be administered to the jury as a whole. This being done, the district attorney moved that the court adjourn in order to give the jurors an opportunity to attend to their respective business matters. At this point Scoville rose to make a personal explanation regarding the paper which was obtained from the prisoner this morning. He said he did not approve of the document and wished it distinctly understood. At the conclusion of his remarks the prisoner arose and in an excited manner insisted he had not yet accepted the services of counsel, and declared that until he did so he would defend himself. The court then adjourned until to-morrow.

COURT ROOM SCENES.

CHICAGO, November 16.—The Tribune's Washington special says about Guiteau that the prisoner made no demonstrations as he often did, but talked excitedly with his counsel and brother. Some of these conversations, as they were overheard by those who sat near him, spoke even more powerfully of a disordered mind than some of his formal public sayings, but these may have been intended for effect inasmuch as Guiteau knew that those who sat at the table were members of the press and his whisperings might almost be deemed to have been intentionally loud enough for them to hear. He said to-day, when criticising one of the talesmen, leaning over to his brother and speaking in an excited and very earnest tone, "This is politics, nothing but politics, and if it should be necessary I am going to have every juryman a democrat. This is politics from top to bottom and my friends have to see me through." After Guiteau left the room, and while he was being taken to the van, he had more opportunity of observing the indignation of the people than he ever had before. He was hissed and jeered at from a crowd of hundreds of people about the prison wagon. After leaving the court room he lost his bravado. When a man in the crowd shouted, "I wish I had a pistol to shoot the damned scoundrel," he cowered visibly behind the policeman who escorted him.

COMMISSION OF INDIAN AFFAIRS.

The annual report of the commissioner of Indian affairs to the secretary of the interior has been made public. Commissioner Price, at the outset, desires to urge with earnestness the absolute necessity for a thorough and radical change in the Indian policy in some respects and particulars. It must be apparent to the most casual observer that the system of gathering Indians in bands or tribes on reservations and carrying them victuals and clothes, thus relieving them of the necessity of labor, never will and never can civilize them. If white men were treated as we treat the Indians the result would certainly be a race of worthless vagabonds. I wish to call attention to the fact that in almost every case only nomadic tribes go upon the warpath and stubborn facts of history compel me to say that the government is largely to blame for this. We feed the White River murderers and compel peaceable Uintahs to largely care for themselves. This course induces the Indians to believe they are to get favors from the government. They must refuse to work, refuse to be orderly and peaceable and must commit some depredations or murder and then the commissioners will be appointed to treat with them and pay them in goods, provisions and money to behave themselves."

REPORT FROM THE ARCTIC.

Lieutenant Berry, of the Arctic relief ship "Rogers," in a letter to the secretary of the navy dated September 27th, writes that he crossed and recrossed the 198th meridian in 73° north and with horizon throughout and sky to the north clear. He did not sight the land reported by a captain of a whaling bark as situated in 175° west longitude and extending as far north as 73° north latitude. The lieutenant adds: "I have found northern ice of such nature that it would not be possible to pass its outer edge, consisting in places of heavy packs, and in others of unbroken fields miles in extent. I purpose to proceed fromwhere to the coast of Siberia and follow to the westward, looking there for tidings of the missing "Jeannette" and for a suitable harbor to winter in, and from which to send out sledge parties and be in a position to succor any one who may be able to reach that coast. Failing to find a suitable harbor, I will leave a party with dog sledges and provisions for one year to make search and will winter the vessel in St. Lawrence bay and send parties from there also. In the spring I will proceed to Plover bay, fill up with coal and continue the search. Since Wrangel Land has proven to be an island of such small extent with no other land near it, I deem it useless to winter there as recommended by the Jeannette relief board under the false supposition that they landed far to the northward." While exploring Wrangel Island he found a cairn, formed by Captain Hooper of the United States steamer Corwin.

Clearing House Exchanges.

NEW YORK, November 16.—The clearing house exchanges for the week were generally larger than for the corresponding week last year. The Public's table shows the following gains and losses:

LOSSES.

New York	11.1
Baltimore	14.8
New Haven	5.1
New Orleans	12.1
Memphis	12.1

GAINS.

Boston	15.2
Philadelphia	4.8
Pittsburgh	5.5
Kansas City	11.6
Worcester	20.7
Chicago	17.0
Cincinnati	17.1
Louisville	28.9
Indianapolis	14.8
Lowell	15.6
St. Louis	11.6
San Francisco	14.2
Providence	20.0
Cleveland	26.0
Syracuse	130.2

Election caused a holiday in many cities last week, so that five days exchanges at such cities are compared with transactions for a full week last year. The comparison therefore has but little value as respects operations in the principal cities.

MEXICAN VETERANS.

General Sherman Makes a Speech at Their Atlanta Meeting.

ATLANTA, GA., November 16.—The Mexican Veterans' association had their annual meeting in the judge halls of the exposition grounds. General Walker in a brief speech introduced General Henry J. Jackson of Savannah who delivered an oration giving a history of the campaign against Mexico. General Sherman being called on made a short speech in the course of which the following occurred: "Thank God I am an American citizen. We are Americans. I think God I am one and I tell you I can go from any part, from Maine to Texas, and stop where I please so long as I behave myself and obey the laws of the place, and that is the spirit of the government of the United States, that is what made us the United States of America, and that is the foundation upon which governments are built for this continent. We fought our mother and acquired our independence, and to-day we are the same nation, the same soldiers, the same government, the same flag, and so far as I am concerned, I am just as friendly to Georgia as I am to my own native state of Ohio. [Immense applause.] If you think Georgia is a better part of the country why stick to Georgia, and if you want to go to California, why go there. That is the great value of our system of government. It is a government worth fighting for. I have come to-day to look upon these buildings where once we had battle-fields, and I delight more to look upon them than to look upon the scene which was here enacted sixteen years ago, and I say that every man, every kindly woman over this broad land takes as much pleasure in your prosperity and in this exposition as do those who are sitting in this presence to-day. I did not intend to be be brought out even this much, but I think we are all now in a position to say that we thank God we are each and every one of us, great and small, young and old, American citizens."

JOHN SHERMAN.

Remarks by the Ex-Secretary at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, November 16.—Hon. John Sherman appeared on change to-day, and made a brief address, in which he alluded to the dark days of the past when he had spoken to Cincinnati merchants and congratulated them that those days were past, and that now no country had brighter prospects than this of being at peace not only with the rest of the world but among themselves. Nearly all the asperities which have divided the people have passed away. After the reception given to General Sherman at Atlanta yesterday, surely the democrats and republicans of Cincinnati should have no cause of quarrel. He knew of no political issue in Ohio worthy of the name. The tariff was not because of difference of opinion, but when D. W. Voorhees, of Indiana, and John Sherman, of Ohio, stood side by side on this subject, he thought Cincinnati politicians of different parties could do the same. Continuing he spoke of the legislation in the interest of the business community, alluding to the law to assist the honest creditor in pursuing a debtor, and the law for the direction of commerce between states, which, he said, should be framed with a view to the interests of business men.

Gould's Danger.

NEW YORK, November 16. Howard Welles, accused of attempting to blackmail Jay Gould, was arraigned in the Tombs police court to-day for examination, which his counsel waived, and the prisoner was remanded. Letters sent by Welles to Gould stated he would be ruined if stock continued to advance and before taking his own life he would have the satisfaction of killing Gould; that as stocks advanced he was ruined, and warned Gould to prepare for death, as he intended killing him first and himself afterward; that he can borrow $20,000 or $30,000 from friends if Gould will lower the market; that he refuses to meet Gould, saying he will meet him but once and at a time when he is not surrounded by friends. Welles also reminds Gould of the death of his former partner Coe. In the fifth letter he thanks Gould for the temporary depression of the market, saying his influence caused it and not the Mechanics bank defalcation. In the sixth he warns Gould that his death would be appalling to holders of stock and that the failure of the Mechanics bank would only be a circumstance to it. The remaining nineteen letters are in a similar strain and tell his position in the market, warning Gould to make no mistake. Most of the letters have the signature "Victim."

John Roach at the Industrial League.

CHICAGO, November 16.—Hon. John Roach, of Philadelphia, addressed the Industrial league in Fairbank hall to-night. He gave a statement of his own personal interest in ship building showing that during the current year he has equipped vessels worth $700,000. He opposed subsidies, but said he simply desired that his labor be protected in the yards and on the seas as all American industries are protected. He did not regard the repeal of navigation laws as being in the interest of American shipping, but it was pressed for the interest of foreign governments desirous of placing their vessels under the American flag in the event of a stupendous war, which will surely come, and would only form a warehouse for temporary protection of the nation that has done and is doing all in her power to destroy our commerce. He appealed to the American people to investigate this question and not to be governed by selfishness of their own trade for no nation ever was or ever will be great that does not build her own ships. The time will come when the existence of our nation will demand the existence of force enough to build both the navy and commerce.

SHROUDED IN MYSTERY.

A School Girl Found Horribly Mutilated—Another Mysterious Case.

CHICAGO, November 16.—At 10 o'clock last evening the headless trunk of Miss Ellen Kesners was found at a place known as the Wabash railroad and Seventy-first in Englewood. Marks on the person of the deceased plainly indicated foul play. She was twenty years of age, prepossessing, educated in the east and attending the Normal school at Englewood. She was regarded as a young lady of brilliant prospects. Upon learning of the fact of the murder, the town became greatly excited, and bands of residents went out in every direction to get a clue to the murderer. Miss Kesner has been acting strangely lately, and common remark was, "something is preying on Ellen's mind." Last night she retired as usual but subsequently rose, dressed herself, and going to the room of the superintendent's wife complained of feeling ill. She was sent back by that lady, but instead of going to her room went out on the street, and at 10 o'clock the body was found secreted in the woods by two men W. S. Patrick and W. S. Warner. Both arms and legs were broken and there were several cuts on the body made with a knife. The head lay some distance from the body. Parts of the hands and feet were scattered in the grass, indicating that the murderer had deposited his burden hurriedly and fled. Over the left nipple was a knife wound but not sufficient to cause death. The thighs and abdomen were badly discolored, carrying the impression of outrage. Two men in the garb of tramps were seen at 11 o'clock rapidly walking along Wentworth avenue, but though pursued by the excited citizens, they escaped. This morning the citizens threaten to deal summarily with the murderer or murderers if found. The police think the girl was run over by an incoming train.

Friends and relatives of Miss Ellen Kesners scout the idea of foul play and agree with the police that it was either a case of death by accident or suicide committed by her while temporarily insane.

An Englishman's Advice.

LONDON, November 16.—John Walter, of the Times, speaking in Berkshire on the result of his tour in America, said it was desirable there should be in all English countries a body of men able to advise their neighbors who are about to go to America. Any Englishman going to America, who is a good judge of land and who is steady and industrious, might be certain of becoming wealthy and prosperous before he was fifty years old, and before the close of the next century the United States would have a population of 200,000,000. He wished more englishmen would go there. They would be an additional element of stability in the country and would be as likely to succeed there as men of any other nationality.

Mining Stocks in New York.

NEW YORK, November 16.—Mining stocks are fairly active and irregular. South Pacific opened at $11.25 and closed at $11.35; State Lines two and three closed at the opening figure, $1.80, after fluctuating between $1.75 and $1.90; Robinson Consolidated was active and weak, declining from $9.63 to $9.13. Total sales of mining stocks at both exchanges were 132,420 shares.

Another Absconder.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 16.—A Napa dispatch says: G. Barth, a prominent citizen missing for two weeks—was found to have gone to Arizona taking with him about $30,000 entrusted to him by friends for safe keeping. Also the city's money in his hands. It is supposed that recent business reverses led him to abscond.

New York Billiard Tournament.

NEW YORK, November 16.—The seventh game of the cushion carom billiard match between Morris and Gallagher, was won by Morris. Gallagher scored 163. The game between Carter and Sexton was won by the former. Sexton scored 178. The game between Schaefer and Heiser was won by the former. Heiser 179. The tenth game between Slosson and Dion was won by Dion, who in the eighth inning made the best run of the tournament 145; Slosson 130.

Funeral of Mrs. Edwin Booth.

NEW YORK, November 16. Funeral obsequies over Mrs. Edwin Booth were held at the residence of the McVickers, West Fifty-third street, this afternoon. Rev. Dr. Collyer, assisted by Rev. Dr. Ewing, officiated. In addition to the husband, daughter, father and mother of Mrs. Booth, there were present Mrs. Gould-Hoyt, Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Abbey, Junius and Sydney Booth, Mr. and Mrs. Max Strakosch, James Coons Browns, Kate Mayhew, Kate Field, John McCullough, Lester Wallack. The floral offerings were many and costly. The remains left on the evening train for Chicago, where the interment will take place.

OCEAN'S PERILS.

Attempt to Save the Crew of a Sinking Vessel.

NEW YORK, November 16.—The bark Law Wood arrived here to-day and reported that October 20th, latitude 49° 10', longitude 37° 30', she sighted the bark Ben D'Or sinking with spars and sails gone and boats stove. The sea was making a clean breach over her. The second mate of the Law Wood, George W. James, and four men volunteered to rescue the crew of the sinking bark. They went off in a boat and as they neared the wreck a heavy squall shut off from view both boat and wreck. When the squall passed the Ben D'Or swamped and the crew was not seen again. During that night, the next day and night and the following day till noon a gale was blowing. It then moderated, and just before dark the wreck was again sighted, hull down. The Law Wood got as close as prudent, owing to the heavy sea running, when the mate and two men volunteered to attempt a rescue. They were successful, but owing to the small boat had to make two trips. Returning the second time from the wreck, they shipped a sea which filled the little boat, full to the thwarts, but as the crew used their hats to bale out the water they were enabled to get safely alongside the Law Wood. The Ben D'Or probably sank that night in a very heavy gale.

Quiet Prize Fighters.

ERIE, Pa., November 16.—Both Holden and White, prize fighters, are here. Some arrests of pickpockets have been made, and a sharp watch is being kept of the principals in this affair, but they have not been arrested and are keeping very quiet.

The pugilists went into Ohio and pitched a ring two miles east of Conneaut river. After three rounds the constable stopped the fight which the referee declared a draw.

Mrs. Garfield's Thanks to England.

LONDON, November 16. Hoppin, secretary of the American legation, publishes a letter conveying Mrs. Garfield's heartfelt thanks for the resolutions, addresses, letters, and poems, transmitted to her from the corporations, societies and individuals in Great Britain and Ireland on the occasion of the death of her husband, and expresses her regret that owing to their large number she is unable to acknowledge the communications separately.

DESTRUCTIVE CYCLONE.

The Fierce Wind Which Visited the City Yesterday.

Barns and Warehouses Destroyed and Cars Blown from the Track.

With the rising of the sun yesterday morning came a gentle breeze from the westward, which by 8 o'clock had developed into a genuine Colorado zephyr. It was not a steady wind, but at intervals of every few moments gusts would come sweeping over the foot hills and down upon the city.

By 9 o'clock these gusts came more frequently, and with renewed force, and people could traverse the streets with difficulty. Windows were blown in, and loose boards and boxes were carried along the streets by the force of the gale. In the southwestern part of the city the gale seemed to have developed into a genuine cyclone.

Six cars used for sleeping bunks and eating quarters by the section men on the Denver & Rio Grande, which were standing on a side track south of the freight depot, were blown from the track into the ditch. At the time there was no one in the cars except the cook who was busily engaged in preparing dinner for the workmen. He was not injured but was badly scared as the shock came rather unexpectedly. Much of the crockery in the car was entirely demolished and some of the cooking utensils destroyed. The same gust which blew the cars from the track also completely destroyed a warehouse, 40x30, standing near the depot which belonged to Messrs. Roby & Vaux. Nothing was stored in the building at the time.

A gentleman who resides a few miles south of the city came into town during the afternoon, and reported that the cyclone had leveled to the ground the large new barn recently completed by Mr. C. R. Vincent on his ranch, three miles south of the city, at a cost of nearly $2,000. This barn was 125 feet long, 40 feet in width and 20 feet high, and was one of the largest buildings of the kind in the county. A horse belonging to Messrs. Hundley & Low, which was standing outside, was killed by the fall of the building. The wind also picked up a small out-building on the same ranch, and dropped it into the ash pond some distance off. Mr. Vincent's loss will not be less than $1,000.

What further destruction of property occurred in the course of the cyclone we were unable to learn. Colorado Springs was lucky in not lying in the direct course of this fierce gale for there would probably have been a general destruction of property, and perhaps the loss of some lives.

COLLEGE MENTION.

Occurrences of the Week at Colorado College.

Yesterday Professor Strieby kindly gave me some information about his part of the college work and explained quite fully the new lantern that I spoke about last week. The lantern is what is known as a college lantern. It is about the same as a magic lantern, except that there is more to it. Its use is the projecting views on a screen.

It can be run by either a calcium or electric light. It is at present arranged for the calcium light. There is a door on the right side of the lantern and another in the rear. The one in the rear is the one through which the light is introduced and taken out. In the door on the right is a little window of colored glass, so that the operator can examine the light without danger to his eye.

With the lantern are three or four sets of very fine, large acromatic lenses. By means of one of these lenses parallel rays of light are thrown on the photograph, which is placed in a slide in front. Before this slide is a combination of lenses for enlarging the view as it falls on the screen. This combination of lenses can be exactly adjusted by movement on an axis and by a rack and pinion.

The lantern as thus equipped can be used by Professor Strieby in his chemistry and for the projection of views of smelting works, mining machinery, and the interior of mines; by Professor Sheldon for views of temples, Greek cities, and for the enlargement of texts; by Professor Stone for geological views, such as stratification and mountain scenery. Professor Loud can employ the lantern in physics, but will have especial use for it with the upright attachment.

By means of a mirror placed in the upright attachment at an angle, the rays of light coming from the view are thrown upward through a magnifying apparatus similar to the one already mentioned. Still above is another mirror, by means of which the view can be thrown in different directions and to different heights. When thus equipped the lantern is better fitted for use in confined situations, and because of the ease in changing the position of the view has some other advantages.

Another attachment is the polarizing elbow. The light is polarized by means of twelve or or thirteen plates of glass. On the end of the polarizing elbow is a microscopic attachment. There is also in connection with this part of the lantern an analyzer or Nichols prism—a little thing, but worth fifty dollars. When this prism is in one direction, the light passes freely; but if it be turned ninety degrees, the light will not pass at all. The same end can be attained by turning the staging containing the object. This will show what some minerals are by determining whether the light passing through them is polarized.

There is also a Zentmayer microscope, a very powerful instrument, for enlarging on the screen small objects; glasses for a water tank, by aid of which the appearance of water highly magnified is shown; and a complete photographic outfit.

The photographic outfit consists of an eight-by-ten camera for views—commonly called a view box—of the sort known as cone-bellows, double swing-back; a tripod for this view-box; a Morrison objective with a regular set of stops; ferrotype plates; and a complete supply of chemicals.

In addition Professor Strieby has for use in his department twenty sets of blow-pipe apparatus worth over five hundred dollars, four tons of crucibles and covers, two hundred and fifty dollars worth of balances, bottles of various sizes for re-agents, twenty pounds of glass tubing, and many other things of importance. Twenty-one cases of assaying supplies will be received soon. The laboratory is now in such condition that work can be done at once without the delays which were sometimes necessary last year.

One of the lady members of the Occidental club was recently asked if her last name was N . She answered that she did not know what her last name would be, but that her present name was N . This willingness to make a change in name seems characteristic of the society, perhaps indeed because we have among us so many young ladies. I have already told that the name of the society has once been changed. I am now to tell that at the last meeting the name of the society's paper was changed from The Occident to The Occidental Mirror. Bartlett was added to the board of managers. I am told that enough advertising has been secured to pay for the first three numbers. It is the present intention to issue the November number next Friday. I wish to correct an omission in my last notes, an omission of which I plead not guilty: Miss Lizzie S. Neal is literary editor of The Mirror. It only takes eight managers and editors to look after our paper.

At the next meeting of the society there will be a mock trial. The meeting will be held in the chapel at half past seven next Friday evening, and a general invitation to be present is extended. Here is the programme:

The People of the State of Colorado vs. Louis Bartlett, indictment for grand larceny.
Judge presiding—F. L. Cooper.
Clerk of court—May L. Neal.
Sheriff—J. H. Jackson.
Attorneys for the state—Prosecuting Attorney F. W. Tuckerman, Owen & DeLange.
Attorneys for the defense—F. E. Johnson and Neal & Seldomridge.
Witnesses—W. J. McCreery, J. H. Jackson, Belle Older, Jessie M. Rowe.
Foreman of grand jury—L. D. Ratliffe.
Petit jurors (regular panel)—Ellen Gateley, Julia P. Mosser, Bertha L. Smith, Alice Rogers, B. G. Kimball.

Last Friday Mr. Bacon made a business trip to the northern part of the state, returning Tuesday night. On Monday the preparatory department had a vacation. Tuesday Mr. Halleck taught.

Miss Shattuck, who has been acting as librarian, gives up the position. Whether Professor Loud will have any further assistance I cannot say.

Miss Doak, our assistant editor, is back again after several days' illness.

The boarding club has lost Mr. Bower.

A RICH STRIKE

In the Sundown in Which Colorado Springs Parties are Interested.

Last Saturday Mr. Frank Howbert of the First National bank received notice to the effect that the men engaged at work on the Sundown mine at Leadville, in which he was one of the principal owners, had developed some exceedingly rich mineral. He left for Leadville on the first train and a visit to the mine convinced him that mineral of sufficient value to inspire the owners with hopes of something big was to be found on the property. Last Thursday at a depth of forty-six feet a rich vein of mineral was struck an average specimen of which gave a mill run of 116 ounces in silver and five and four-tenths ounces in gold, or $242 to the ton.

The property is located in Frying Pan gulch in close proximity to the Shields mine, in which some rich mineral has recently been discovered. New machinery has been erected and the mine has made its first shipment of ore. Eleven men are now employed at the mine, and work will be pushed vigorously during the winter.

The principal owners in the mine are Mr. Frank Howbert of this city, and ex-Mayor Humphreys and Robert Wendland of Leadville.

Yesterday morning Mr. Frank Howbert received a telegram from Mr. Humphreys stating that an assay made on Tuesday showed 804 3-10 ounces in silver and 104 8-10 ounces in gold, or a total value of $8,184.06 to the ton.

This is looked upon as being one of the richest strikes made in Leadville for some time, and the owners are naturally jubilant over the find. The ore taken from the mine is very similar to the ores found in the mines of Boulder county, and entirely different from anything heretofore found in Leadville.

Mr. Frank Howbert offered to dispose of his interest in this mine not less than one month ago for $500; now no price will tempt him to sell his interest.

Arrest of a Bad Denver Man.

CHICAGO, November 16.—Solomon G. Smith, of Denver, who, coming here some time ago with stolen property, was arrested by two sets of detectives, both of whom he bribed in to releasing him, was taken west to-night, having been arrested by less corruptible detectives.

Edward A. Freeman spent sometime at the polls at the last election studying our methods. He will give an interesting article on the subject soon.

The Solid Muldoon is happy. It has won in its fight against the county democratic committee. It shows that manly independence will win.

If Baldwin had stolen only a thousand or so he might have failed to get bail; but, as he stole millions, he found but little trouble, and walked out of jail under a $100,000 bond.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

This is quite a parallel case to Mr. Chaffee.

The election of Captain James T. Smith as city clerk of the Denver council is received by both parties with satisfaction. Captain Smith has been for the past year editorial writer on the Denver News. He has always been on the side of decency in journalism and has the respect of his associates. We congratulate the city on the possession of so an admirable officer as well as Captain Smith on his appointment.

Secretary Blaine has resigned the chairmanship of the state central committee of Maine, a position he has held for nearly twenty years. This is the first sign that he intends to retire from active politics. He largely obtained and held his position in state politics by this office. In this office he acquired much of his ability as a political organizer, and never sustained a defeat until 1878.

The Appletons have declined longer to publish the North American Review because the editor persists in publishing Ingersoll's blasphemous articles. This is right. There would be no objections to publishing articles on religious subjects in such a review which contained honest skepticism. But Ingersoll's articles are simply blasphemy and outrage every sense of decency. There is room and demand for honest discussion of religious truth. But, as Paley said years ago, there can be no argument used in answering a sneer.

Our dispatches say that Mr. Chaffee is likely to be nominated as secretary of the interior. It shows there is a serious chance of this. We do not believe that it will take place however. We have the utmost confidence in the integrity and good intentions of President Arthur. If he knows the man, he certainly will not make the nomination. If it is done, the interior department will be a sink of corruption and dishonesty. It will defeat the party in Colorado and will deserve to unless Mr. Chaffee is repudiated by the party in the state. We cannot bear the load of his sins. Respectable men will not go with a party with such a leader. It would be just as respectable for President Arthur to put Dorsey in his cabinet from the south, Brady from Indiana, Delano from Ohio, Belknap from Iowa, Senator Sessions from New York, or Ben Butler from Massachusetts. It will be an outrage on the party and an outrage on honesty and purity in government.

A LITTLE HISTORY.

It may be interesting to read a little history regarding the Little Pittsburg swindle. It will be remembered that in January, 1880, circulars were issued by Senator Chaffee and the directors giving the most extraordinary statement of the richness of this mine. On the strength of it the stock went rapidly up. Mr. Chaffee knew at this time, as he admitted, that the dividends would only continue until June 1880. But he was mistaken. The dividends stopped after March 1880. This hurried him about selling out and caused in part the panic. Between February 21, 1880, and March 5, 1880, Chaffee & Co. sold out 85,000 shares, declaring all the while that they were not selling, and urging their friends to buy. The following report of a conversation of Director Smith with the general manager of the mine from the circular of January 10, 1880, to which we alluded above, will prove interesting reading:

Q. Tell me, in round numbers, how much ore you have taken out since the company was organized?

A. About $1,800,000.

Q. Do you recollect about the amount of ore that was uncovered when the party was out there last spring?

A. I think it was placed somewhere between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000.

Q. What amount should you think we have now developed?

A. I have not gone into any calculation recently, but some time ago I made an estimate, and from it I conclude that we have now thirty months' dividends in sight, and possibly $5,000,000.

Q. That is based on explorations and developments already made?

A. Yes, sir; from developements actually made, without taking into consideration the probabilities in the unexplored ground; I think there is a large body of ore in the Dives, but I don't take that into consideration in my estimation of $3,000,000; I have taken nothing into account but what I can look at.

Q. (By Mr. Smith) You have already told us of this ten years, and possibly five years, of dividends in sight upon our property at the present moment, and only the smaller portion of the property opened; what is your opinion of the future probability of ore developments?

A. From the amount of ground developed the property has already produced, and, in my opinion, yet shows in sight, what will be equal to over $8,000,000 net, if we are to reckon upon this basis—and I know of no reason why we should not—then, as before stated, we have but a portion of the ground developed, leaving the largest part to be yet developed; after making due allowance for possible barren ground, and all other contingencies, it would be safe to reckon that the remaining undeveloped portion of the property will yield a net profit of $25,000,000, or say a total of $30,000,000 from date of discovery.

Q. It has been estimated by experts that we shall receive a much larger amount, and by some as high as $50,000,000 to $80,000,000; you seem to be under these figures—why?

A. I would rather underestimate the amount than overstate it; I want to score an amount that I feel confident results will justify.

It is the man who put forth this statement when he knew there were not above five dividends in the mine and as it afterwards proved but three, that we propose to put at the head of a department requiring honesty and purity. If he is, the next administration will have its time occupied in prosecuting star Indian contractor thieves.

A PAPER WITH THE COURAGE OF ITS CONVICTIONS.

The salient fact remains that Mr. Chaffee was, while many of his would-be detractors were dawdling in the east, working with all his powers of body and brain to develop the resources of Colorado, and to his efforts, as much, if not more, than the efforts of any other one man, is due the present prosperity of the state. In accrediting him to Colorado the state will be honored, and no mere personal opposition should be allowed to weigh in the matter.—[Leadville Herald.

A few days ago the Herald said it had the courage of its convictions. The above shows how great this courage is. Just now Mr. Chaffee has a chance of going into the cabinet, and the Herald is the leading paper in its contemptible, truckling flattery. It knows the above is not true. Mr. Chaffee has never done anything to develop the mining resources of Colorado. He has been all his life a mine wrecker. He takes mines already discovered and then sells them by swindling operations. He has never discovered a mine and developed it and thus made his immense fortune. His money has been made by selling mines, by misrepresentation, above their value. His Caribou operation destroyed for years confidence in the mines of the Boulder, Gilpin and Clear Creek districts. It stopped the inflow of capital and practically stopped the development of mines in northern Colorado. The same is true of Leadville. His cheating operations in the "Little Pittsburg" destroyed, for a time, eastern confidence in Leadville, and the money which was pouring into that district for the purchase and development of mines was turned into other channels. This put back development in Leadville a year. It was especially hard on poor prospectors who had good mining interests and lacked money to develope them. Senator Chaffee's swindle prevented their making many sales then under negotiation which would have put them on their feet. We have never had a good "boom" in Colorado that Senator Chaffee has not given it a black eye by his dishonest operations. The Herald did not always give praise to Chaffee. In March, 1880, the Herald had the following regarding the fall in Little Pittsburg:

> The press should not be at all mealy-mouth in discussing this question. The one way in which it will injure the state is by a suppression of discussion. If the consolidation is as rich as ever, THE FALL IN THE STOCK IS THE RESULT OF RASCALITY ON THE PART OF SOME MAN OR MEN, AND THE FELLOWS, WHOMSOEVER THEY ARE, SHOULD BE FULLY EXPOSED. THE REPUTATION OF COLORADO FOR HONEST MINING MUST BE PRESERVED.

How does the Herald propose to preserve this reputation for honest mining? By putting the leader in this fraud in the cabinet as a representative of Colorado? What will the east think of our standard of morality if we are represented in the cabinet by the man most identified with the Colorado mining swindles of the last fifteen years? If Colorado has an independent, honest press, it is time to speak now. Those papers which will eat their denunciations of a year ago, betray the mining interests, and cast a dark blot on the honor and fair fame of the state, will take their proper place in the estimation of those who favor honest mining and care for the reputation of the state.

FOLGER AND GARFIELD.

The Geneva (N. Y.) papers give a lengthy account of a demonstration in honor of Judge Folger by his neighbors. In reply to an address of congratulation, Judge Folger made an interesting speech which contained the following allusion to his offer of a position in Garfield's cabinet:

> It was my great privilege to personally know him. Summoned of a sudden to his presence for consultation, I passed with him hours of impressive and interesting intercourse. I brought away a large idea of him, of the fullness of his acquirements, that scope of his knowledge, the greatness and wisdom of his purposes, and the unselfishness of his soul. His treatment of me was noble and generous. You have surmised, from public report, for what he asked me to Mentor. I have seen it stated in one quarter that after contact with me he deemed me unfit for a place in his cabinet, and this allegation was accompanied with aspersions which the word once meaning "sprinkling" only has now come to mean sprinkling with dirty water. I have in my power proof that the allegation is untrue. It is justice to myself to read it to you, and I think I may do so with no impropriety. Without preface, my letter to General Garfield and his to me will plainly tell their own story.
> ALBANY, N. Y., February 21.
>
> To the Hon. James A. Garfield:
>
> SIR—Suffer me to say over a part of what took place between us during the hours of deep interest that I passed in your presence on Saturday last, if I rightly took what you said. It is, first, that you were inclined to offer me a place in your cabinet. We went over the reasons for and against the course. Some of those against it were wholly answered and set aside. The force of others was much abated. Others were left as vigorous as when we began. Near the end of our meeting you did honor me by plainly offering me the office of attorney-general of the United States coupling it with a distinction that, in the happening of a contingency, you might ask me to take the post of secretary of the treasury. You did not say what that contingency is.
>
> Your words to me were throughout so noble and so frank that if you had thought it proper that I should know what it is you would have named it. This thought checked me from asking what it was. It was, however, a grain of uncertainty in your proposition. I felt the responsibility in which I was placed to myself, to my friends, personal and political, to the party of which I am a member and have been a trusted representative, and to the public. I could not say "yes" to your proposition, and left not feel willing without further reflection, to utter a final "no." Since then the matter has had the best thought I have to give, with the aid of the judgment of trusted friends. I need not go over the reasons that I laid before you; they still affect me, some of them, as they did then. Besides them, there is one growing out of the proposition made. If I say yes to it, it will hold me and my state to the acceptance of the place of a law officer of the government. In my judgment, this would not meet the expectations of the state of New York nor the republican party, as expressed or interpreted by the foremost men in it. I do not feel at liberty to make a decision that would disappoint the community to whom I owe so much gratitude and duty. Some of these things which passed before me while with you showed me what a vast and weighty burden of duty and responsibility you were about to take on. I feel you to be equal to it; a strong man armed for it; but broad and round and toughened as are your shoulders, there will be times when it will be grateful to you to have a loyal, earnest, kindly arm to ease the load a little from the galled spot. My intercourse with you, though short, has started germs that could but grow, if fostered by closer acquaintance in the future, into sincere, vigorous, affectionate, and loyal devotion. It is with reluctance then, almost with a sense of high opportunity spurned, and of duty put behind me, that I feel compelled to answer your proposition in the negative. With deep respect, your obedient servant,
>
> CHAS. L. FOLGER.

President Garfield's reply was as follows:

> LAWNFIELD, MENTOR, Feb. 23.
>
> The Hon. J. C. Folger, Albany, N. Y.:
> MY DEAR SIR:—Your favor of the 21st inst. came to-day. I seriously regret that you decline the attorney generalship, but though disappointed in my hope that you would accept, I shall remember with satisfaction your visit here and the frankness and cordiality of your conversation. Thanking you for the kind terms of your letter, I am, very truly yours,

Flattering.

Denver News.

Colorado Springs made a good (and, so far as we are advised) honorable fight for the distinction, or more properly speaking, the honor of being the capital of this great young commonwealth. Had she succeeded, there is no denying the fact that our capital would have been located at a city of which no citizen of Colorado would be ashamed. It is one made up of an exceedingly intelligent and cultured people, besides being one of the handsomest towns on the continent. Its wide avenues, splendid drives and magnificent scenery, would have been to the state officials, as it is to present residents, sources of continuous pleasure.

Politeness of French Children.

Nasby's Letter to the Toledo Blade.

Politeness with the French is a matter of education as well as nature. The French child is taught that lesson from the beginning of its existence, and it is made a part of its life. It is the one thing that is never forgotten and lack of it is never forgiven. French children do not go about clamoring for the best places, and sulking if they do not get them, and talking in a rude, boisterous way. They do not take favors and attentions as a matter of course and unacknowledged. The slightest attention shown them is acknowledged by the sweetest kind of a bow—not the dancing-master's bow, but a genuine one and invariable "Merci, monsieur!" or madame, or mademoiselle, as the case may be.

I was in a compartment with a little French boy of twelve, the precise age at which American children, as a rule, deserve killing, for their rudeness and general disagreeableness. He was dressed faultlessly, but his clothes were not the chief charm. I sat between him and the open window, and he was eating pears. Now, an American boy of that age would either have dropped the cores on the floor, or tossed them out of the window without regard to anybody. But this small gentleman every time, with a "Pernit me, monsieur," said in the most pleasant way, rose and came to the window and dropped them out, and then "Merci, monsieur," as he quietly took his seat. It was a delight. I am sorry to say that such small boys do not travel on American railroads to any alarming extent. Would they were more frequent.

And this boy was no exception. He was not a show-boy, out posing before the great American republic, or such of it as happened to be in France at that time; but he was a sample, a type of the regulation French child. I have seen just as much politeness in the ragged waifs in the Faubourg St. Antoine, where the child never saw the blue sky more than the little patches that could be seen over the tops of seven-storied houses, as I ever did in the Champs Elysees. One Sunday, at St. Cloud, where the ragged children of poverty are taken by their mothers for air and light, it was a delight to fill the pockets with sweets to give them. They had no money to buy, and the little human rats looked longingly at the riches of the candy stands, and a sou's worth made the difference between perfect happiness and half pleasure. You gave them the sou's worth, and what a glad smile came to the lips, and accompanied with it was the delicious half-bow and half-courtesy, and invariable, "Merci, monsieur." One little tot, who could not speak, filled her tiny mouth with the unheard-of delicacies she had received, and too young to say "merci," put up her lips to be kissed.

"Did You Ebber See de Bone Fight?"

New Orleans Democrat.

During the summer of 1864 there were several regiments of negro troops raised in and around Nashville, and scarce were the able-bodied blacks who did not prefer camp-life and labor to that of any other kind in those days. Sam Carter kept the St. Cloud hotel, the best public house in the city, and among the waiters was an old darkey, named Sandy, and his son Sam. It seems that Sam was crazy to join the union forces, and claimed that, as the war was for the good of the colored race, and for the freedom of the slave, it was not only his right but his duty to join the Lincoln army. Andy Johnson, John F. Miller, Alvin C. Gillem, Lovell H. Rousseau, and a crowd of lesser men, were sitting in front of the St. Cloud one evening, and along came the two darkies wrangling:

"Ise done jined de Linkum troops, an' dat's de settlement on de whole fuss," said Sam, triumphantly.

"You has?" interrogated Sandy, derisively.

"Yes, I has!"

"I say, honey, spozen a big cannon ball come bustin' through de air, an' take de top o' dat simple head o' your'n right clean off, wat would ye say?—what would ye be?"

"I takes my chances. I understands all about dis fuss, I does. De Yankees are fightin' for de freedom of de niggers, an' our boys are fightin' to keep us slaves. I heard a Yankee officer say dis mornin' dat de nigger was de bone of de contention, sah, an'—"

"Dat's it honey; now you's got it all right, sure. De nigger is de bone, an' de two armies is fightin' over it, an' it's de bizziness of de bone to lay low and let 'em fight. See here, honey, hain't yar many a time seen two dogs fighten ober an old bone?"

"Yes, sah. I has? Yes, sah."

"Well, now, honey, did you ever see the bone fight?"

Vesuvius as an Oil Well.

Harrisburg Telegraph.

It has been reserved for an Italian citizen of Harrisburg, now perfectly Americanized, and therefore imbued with the Yankee genius, to conceive the idea of boring at the side of Vesuvius to ascertain the source of its volcanic fires, and utilize the tremendous power which has for ages produced this amazing eruption by fire, smoke and great streams of lava. Angelo Possi Ponti is the name of the gentleman who has devoted a long time to this subject, and who has now come to the conclusion after a study of the peculiar phases of the petroleum region of Pennsylvania, that the causes of the volcanic forces in Vesuvius are the same as those which produce the gases in the oil region, only that those of the volcano are the greater and more powerful in their character. His idea is to have a shaft on the land side of the mountain, or a number of them, and by that means reach the bed or beds of oil which he argues flow into a great basin immediately under the crater of the volcano, and thus, by currents of electricity, are made to burn and overflow in great floods of lava. By means of the shafts in question Angelo Possi Ponti hopes to attract the oil from the source of its flames, thereby preventing eruptions and utilizing for mechanical purposes the vast accumulation of oil which has for ages been consumed in the crater. This is a tremendous project in the pursuit of which the inventive Italian believes the source of earthquakes will be reached and controlled, whereby the human race will be shielded from its engine of destruction that has produced such enormous amounts of loss to mankind. This gives the affair a philanthropic phase highly creditable to the humane feelings of the generous Italian. Arrangements for a stock company have been made to take out a charter with a capital stock of $500,000. Mr. Angelo Possi Ponti has been in consultation for some time with a number of eminent geologists and civil engineers in this city, who, while not being able fully to grasp the tremendous subject, still give its projector much encouragement. It is as possible as the Panama canal, for which $50,000,000 has been subscribed, or the excavations at Pompeii and the search for the wonders of Troy, the discoveries of which have astounded the archæologists of the world.

TARIFF CONVENTION

American Industries Discussed---Comparison of Wag

CHICAGO, November 16 — The tariff convention met at 11 a.m Congressman Aldrich addressed the audience, expressing sympathy with the object of the convention Messrs. J. B Grinnell, of Iowa, Blair, of New Jersey, Osborne, of New York, Fuller, of the Bath (Maine) board of trade, Hunton, of Milwaukee, Hawley, of Syracuse, H H Adams, of Cleveland, and others made brief addresses The committee on resolutions will report this afternoon. To-morrow the association will visit Pullman and the stock yards During the morning session there was much discussion and denunciation of the British shipping interest. One speaker objected to the recent saluting of the British flag at Yorktown

The afternoon session heard the report of the committee on resolutions which was unanimously adopted The following were appointed a committee to lay the resolutions before congress' John Roach, J. B. Morrell, Pennsylvania; Lucius I Hawley, New York; Albert Keep, O W. Potter, Chicago The following were appointed a committee to report on permanent organization to carry out the work of the convention and educate the people on tariff questions O B Potter, A W Kingsland, A A Carpenter, C N Smith, Chicago, Homer Laughlin, J A Whitter, Saginaw, Mich, Charles Ridgely, Springfield, Ill, J A Norton, V B Denslow, F H. Mason The remainder of the session was occupied in discussing American and European wages and on matters pertaining to American industry Among the speakers were Governor Bullock of Georgia, J B Grinnell of Iowa, Titus Sheardan and Mr Hartshorn of New York, J B. Morrell and Henry Shelman, of Richmond, Ind, Samuel Edwards of California, and H Adams, of Cleveland

Edwards, of California, thought the wine business of this country should receive some protection In this connection he read from a printed document a short history of grape culture in California. There were now forty or fifty million vines growing in that state and as a temperance measure he recommended legislation on the subject French wines were well known to be frightfully adulterated and it was necessary to see they should be protected out of the American market Calkins, of New York, thanked the western and southern men in the convention for their interest in American ocean commerce Although he was a democrat he thought J G. Blaine was the greatest American statesman in existence [Applause] Mr Calkins presented the following resolution which was adopted

Resolved, That the manner of shipping our sailors in our ports and their discharge in foreign ports under the present laws be referred to the committee on congressional legislation with power

Edwards, of California, offered a resolution recommending in the interest of the wine growers of that state, that congress afford protection against a reciprocity treaty with France, which was referred to the congressional committee.

Ex Governor Bullock's delegates attend the planters's convention at Atlanta December 6th

The committee on permanent organization was empowered to appoint a committee to meet the committee of cotton planters of the south and the New England manufacturers in Atlanta

The resolutions recount the blessings of protection and the disasters of free trade They declare that the fathers in the constitution evidently contemplated protection to the revenue of the country as well as to the workmen and manufacturers need it that the American maritime property should be exempt from any taxation, as present taxes discriminate heavily in favor of foreign vessels, that the government should make American vessels carriers of American mails regardless of rates charged by subsidized foreign vessels disapprove of the absurd treasury decision in regard to Bessemer steel as fatal to the spirit of the law, advise the commission to revise the tariff and revenue laws Several other resolutions of less importance were also adopted

OZONE

A New Process for Preserving all Perishable Articles, Animal and Vegetable, from Fermentation and Putrefaction Retaining their Odor and Flavor

OZONE —Purified air, a live state of oxygen —Webster

[illegible] This preservation is [illegible] of the [illegible] purely ozone as produced and applied by an entirely new process. Ozone is the antiseptic principle of every substance, and possesses the power to preserve animal and vegetable structures from decay

There is no thing on the face of the earth liable to decay upon which Ozone this new preservative will not preserve for all time in perfectly palatable condition

The value of Ozone as a natural preservative has been known to our chemists for years, but until now no means of producing it in a practical inexpensive and simple manner have been discovered

More scientists have proved that decay is the result of minute germs that feed upon animal and vegetable structures. Ozone applied by the Prentiss method seizes and destroys these germs at once and thus preserves At our office in Cincinnati can be seen almost every article that can be thought of preserved by this process and every visitor is welcome to come. In there smell, take away with him and test in every way the merits of Ozone as a preservative We will also preserve free of charge any article that is brought or sent prepaid to us, and return it to the sender for him to keep [illegible]

FRESH MEATS such as beef mutton veal pork poultry game fish &c preserved by this method can be shipped to Europe subjected to atmospheric changes and return to this country in a state of perfect preservation

EGGS can be treated at a cost of less than one dollar a thousand dozen and be kept in summer [illegible] six months or more thoroughly preserved the yolk held in its normal condition and the eggs as fresh and perfect as on the day they were treated and will sell as strictly choice The advantage in preserving eggs is readily seen there are seasons when they can be bought for 8 or 10 cents a dozen and by holding them, can be sold for an advance of from one hundred to three hundred per cent One man with this method can preserve 5,000 dozen a day

FRUITS may be kept in their freshness [illegible] and can be transported to any part of the world

The juice expressed from fruits can be held for an indefinite period without fermentation hence the great value of this process for producing a temperance beverage Cider can be held perfectly sweet for any length of time

VEGETABLES can be kept for an indefinite period in their natural condition retaining their sweet and flavor treated in their original package, at a small expense All grains, flour meal etc can be held in their normal condition

BUTTER, after being treated by this process will not become rancid

Dead human bodies, treated before decomposition sets in, can be held in a natural condition for weeks, without puncturing the skin or mutilating the body in any way Hence the great value of Ozone to undertakers

There is no change in the slightest particular in the appearance of any article thus preserved, and no taste or odor of any foreign or unnatural odor or taste

The process is so simple that a child can operate it as well and as successfully as a man. There is no expensive apparatus or machinery required

A room filled with different articles, such as eggs meat fish etc can be treated at one time, with no additional trouble or expense

☞ In fact there is nothing that Ozone will not preserve Think of every thing you can that is liable to sour decay or spoil, and then remember that we guarantee that Ozone will preserve it in exactly the condition you want it for any length of time If you will remember this, it will save asking questions as to whether Ozone will preserve this or that article—it will preserve anything and every thing you can think of

There is not a township in the United States in which a live man cannot make any amount of money from $1,000 to $10,000 a year that he pleases We desire to get a live man interested in each county in the United States, in whose hands we can place this preservative, and through him secure the business which every county ought to produce

A FORTUNE Awaits Any Man who Secures Control of OZONE in any Township or County.

A C. Bowen Marion Ohio, has cleared $2 000 in two months, $2 for a test package was his first investment

Woods Brothers, Lebanon, Warren county, Ohio, made $6,000 on eggs purchased in August and sold November 1st $2 for a test package was their first investment

F K Raymond Morristown Belmont county, Ohio, is clearing $2,000 a month in handling and selling Ozone, $2 for a test package was his first investment

D F. Webber, Charlotte Eaton county, Mich has cleared $1,000 a month since August $2 for a test package was his first investment

J B. Gaylord, 80 La Salle st., Chicago is preserving eggs fruit, etc for the commission men of Chicago, charging 1½c per dozen for eggs and other articles in proportion He is preserving 5 000 eggs per day and in his business is making $5,000 a month clear $2 for a test package was his first investment

The Cincinnati Feed company, 405 West Seventh street, is making $5 000 a month in handling brewers malt preserving and selling it Feed to all parts of the country Malt unpreserved sours in 24 hours. Preserved by Ozone it keeps perfectly sweet for months.

These are instances which we have asked the privilege of publishing There are scores of others. Write to any of the above parties and get the evidence direct

Now, to prove the absolute truth of everything we have said in this paper, we propose to place in your hands the means of proving for yourself that we have not claimed half enough. To a person who doubts any of these statements, and who is interested sufficiently to make the trip, we will pay all traveling and hotel expenses for a visit to this city if we fail to prove any statement that we have made

HOW TO SECURE A FORTUNE WITH OZONE

A test package of Ozone, containing sufficient quantity to preserve one thousand dozen eggs, or other articles in proportion will be sent to any applicant on receipt of $2. This package will enable the applicant to pursue any line of tests and experiments he desires, and thus satisfy himself as to the extraordinary merits of Ozone as a preservative After having thus satisfied himself, and had time to look the field over to determine what he wishes to do in the future —whether to sell the article to others, or confine it to his own use, or any other line of policy which is best suited to him and to his township or county—we will enter into an arrangement with him that will make a fortune for him and give us good profits We will give exclusive township or county privileges to the first responsible applicant who orders a test package and desires to control the business in his locality The man who secures control of Ozone for any special territory will enjoy a monopoly which will surely enrich him

Don't fail to lay this matter aside but send for a test package and if you desire to secure an exclusive privilege we assure you that delay may deprive you of it, for the applications come in to us by scores every mail—many by telegraph First come first served is our rule

If you do not care to send money in advance for the test package we will send it C O D but this will put you to the expense of charges for return money Our correspondence is very large we have all we can do to attend to the shipping of orders and giving attention to our working agents Therefore, we cannot give any attention to letters which do not order Ozone. If you think of any article that you are doubtful about Ozone preserving, remember that it will preserve it no matter what it is

REFERENCES:

We desire to call your attention to a class of references which no enterprise or firm based on anything but the soundest business success and highest commercial merit could secure

We refer, by permission, as to our integrity and to the value of the Prentiss Preservative, to the following gentlemen Edward C Boyce, member board of public works, E O Eshelby, city comptroller Amor Smith Jr, collector internal revenue, Wulsin & Worthington, attorneys Martin H Harrell and R F Hopkins, county commissioners W S Cappeller, county auditor, all of Cincinnati, Hamilton county, Ohio These gentlemen are each familiar with the merits of our preservative, and know from actual observation that we have without question

The Most Valuable Article in the World.

The $2 you invest in the test package will surely lead you to secure a township or county, and then your way is absolutely clear to make from $2,000 to $10,000 a year

County Commissioner C. L. Husted who has been in the city several days, returned to Colorado yesterday morning.

Mr C. A. Montross of Buena Vista and county commissioner of Chaffee county is spending a few days in the city.

Judge J. D. Ward, of Leadville, is registered at the Colorado Springs hotel. He came down to attend district court.

Col George S. Robbins is officiating at Sagendorf's drug store during the absence of the Hon Andrew Sagendorf at the east.

There is not, at present a single prisoner in the El Paso county jail. It is the first time that the jail has been entirely vacant in ...

Prof. Knall's music class of the public school, assisted by some of our older musicians, will give a concert at Court House hall, November 22.

Dr N. S. Culver left yesterday morning for San Marcial, New Mexico. He will remain there for several weeks and then go to Southern California for the winter.

Max Fehrman in the character of Uncle Isaac is hard to surpass. He has the reputation of being the best impersonator of the Jewish character on the American stage.

The box sheet for the Uncle Isaac engagement at the opera house on Friday and Saturday nights, will be opened at Howbert Bros' this morning. Call and secure good seats.

Mrs Sheldrie the woman so seriously burned some time ago, is said to be recovering slowly but surely. Her wounds are of such a nature that a large number of clean soft rags have to be constantly used. We are requested to make an urgent appeal to the ladies of Colorado Springs for rags of the above description for the suffering woman. They can be left at the office of Doctors Horn & Loc, opposite the postoffice.

Alderman Walker has some pretty big fish stories to tell since his visit to Cape Cod. He was relating rather an exaggerated story to Alderman Brown yesterday. The latter allowed him to finish his tale and then remarked "Charley, I was born at Cape Cod, and lived there thirty five years myself, and that story won't wash." "The deuce you say," replied Alderman Walker, as he pulled his hat down over his eyes and continued on his way.

Sheriff Smith, assisted by J. C. Woodbury and Officer Saxton, took the prisoners sentenced at the last term of the district court to Cañon City yesterday morning. Following we give the names of the prisoners and their terms of sentence: Edgar Laiety, one year; Anderson Petty, one year; James Martin, one year; Charles Hughes, two years; Frank Johnson, two years; Sam. Bates, two years; John Dean, two years; Lewis Cole, eighteen months; Dansey Robinson, one year; Charles Cehoon, six years, and Charles Tullis, one year. It is the largest number of prisoners ever taken from El Paso county to the state penitentiary at one time. The sentences, as a whole, are exceedingly light, in consequence of their all pleading guilty. Not a single one of the number was convicted on trial.

Tonight the musical and literary entertainment and oyster supper will be given at the new Methodist Episcopal church, on the corner of Nevada avenue and Kiowa street. Mrs. Col. John Wanless will give select readings, and a very enjoyable time is promised. Not only will the programme be an attractive one but those attending will have an opportunity to see the interior of the new church edifice.

In the district court yesterday morning the case of W. S. Jackson vs. P. P. Wilcox et al was resumed. The jury after remaining out several hours rendered a verdict in favor of W. S. Jackson. In the case of Johnson vs. the city of Colorado Springs an application was made for a new trial but the motion was not heard yesterday as the required notice had not been given.

Mr A. J. Carpenter and family returned from the east on Tuesday night and have moved into their handsome residence recently purchased of Mr. A. D. Davis on Nevada ... street.

"Uncle Isaac" at the opera house tomorrow night.

District court will probably adjourn today.

OPERA HOUSE!

"DAT'S MY REGULAR BIZINESS"

Two Nights Only

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY,

November 18th and 19th

First appearance in the city of the great German American dialect comedian,

Max Fehrman,

AS "UNCLE ISAAC,"

Assisted by James H. Meade's N. Y. Co., in the great representative play of that name from the Bush Street Theatre San Francisco after a most successful run of three weeks.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

Max Fehrman's Uncle Isaac is of unquestionable ability, and is at once a funny and artistic performance.—[San Francisco Call.

"Uncle Isaac" as played by Max Fehrman is a portrait whose truthfulness is instantaneously recognized. The gestures, intonations and tricks of manner and speech are all reproduced with such astonishing fidelity that one is almost led to believe they must be natural to the man.—[San Francisco Chronicle.
